DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 5/12/09 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant has continued to argue that the nature of the bore taught by Montagner is not substantially a bore and therefore cannot be held obvious over the Applicant's device. Examiner disagrees. Examiner has further consulted several dictionaries and not found a single reference which requires that a bore must necessarily have an axial opening. Furthermore, the claims do not disclose any axial structures.

Applicant has further argued that Schuchard is not combinable with Montagner because the combined structure would have to be inserted as "one building unit" in the housing in an axial direction. Examiner never stated that that the locking units would have to be inserted in an axial direction. Although the locking units are certainly capable of being inserted in an axial direction they are also capable of being inserted in a radial direction. Furthermore, Applicant is arguing based on unclaimed functional language.
